

The meeting in the Presbyterian Church of the library steering committee was convened on Monday, April 25, 1983, at 1:30 P.M.

Doris Walcutt is the acting chairman and Joel Rudd is acting co-chairman, both by unanimous and enthusiastic vote. It was decided by consensus that Ilene Thompson should be asked if she would be willing to be secretary. Willa Mae Hardesty agreed to contact her about it.

It was agreed that our first task is to get a tax exempt status and Ann Morris agreed to get the needed information and give a report to our next general meeting which will be on May 9th. We were previously offered the help of Mr. David Lloyd, attorney for the County Commissioners Office and we may do this in the future.

It was decided by consensus to use the name Westbank Library when referring to our library project. Accordingly, the library project will hereinafter be known as the Westbank Library project.

The steering committee then discussed the advisability of breaking up into smaller groups, each with a specific task. The following are the committees and their members.
